Tackling Modern Slavery

Human trafficking, forced labour and the exploitation of vulnerable workers are abuses of basic human rights that have no place in our business or supply chain. Preventing these abuses from happening is a global, complex issue that Aldi, its partners, and suppliers are committed to addressing.

This statement is published in accordance with Section 54 of the Modern Slavery Act 2015. It explains the steps taken by Aldi UK and other relevant group companies during the previous calendar year to prevent modern slavery in its business and supply chain.
